

POSITION PAPER

CHINA

We are on the right side of History !

China is concerned about the evolution of the situation in Ukraine and believes that every country's sovereignty and territorial integrity should be respected and safeguarded, including Ukraine's.

China believes that the current crisis is because of the ineffective implementation of the Minsk agreement of 2015.

China has friendly ties with Ukraine, which counts that we Chinese are top trading partner and a major buyer of military hardware. In addition, Ukraine has been an important hub for Chinese president Xi Jinping's grand Belt and Road infrastructure program that seeks to build a new "silk road" that connects China better with countries in east Asia and Europe.

But , China does not favours the further enlargement of NATO and call on the North Atlantic Alliance to abandon its ideologized cold war .

China has one of the closest allies with Russia and our alliance spans military cooperation, propaganda strategy, and energy security, with the last category especially gaining traction as Russia increasingly becomes an important source of liquefied natural gas for China, the world's fastest growing market for this fuel.

Therefore, China believes in peace and harmony for both the nations and stands with the decision that will be right for the humanitarian and mankind.
